

Canada Wins McKinnon Cup--Prince of Wales Prize

Regains Coveted Trophy

The Longer the Range, the Better the Team Shoot

RISLEY CAMP, England, July 14.—Canada won the McKinnon challenge cup today by nineteen points from teams representing England, Scotland, Ireland, Wales, and other parts of the Empire.

Canada that required the trophy which she lost to Scotland last year by 14 points.

During two days after the Canadian victory in the great Knapdale shoot, the side today representing the Canadian efficiency in the match. In the McKinnon Cup, the teams were 12 men each, compared with eight men in the Knapdale cup.

Gain on 1,000 Yards.
The Dominion marksmen and by two points after the shoot at 300 yards and increased that to nearly 17 points at the 1,000 yard range.

Price of Wales Prize.
Company Sergeant-Major W. A. Mackenzie of Toronto, won the Prince of Wales prize today in competition with hundreds of marksmen from all over the empire. His score of 59 out of 60, a possible 100, was a record in the shoot, which was with various rifles at 300 and 600 yards. He won the prize of $100 and the National Rifle Association's gold badge.

Winning won the king's prize in 1912.

Marksmen Fourth.
Lester Edmond, British, Ottawa, won fourth with 54 out of 60 at 300 yards. In the Dominion aggregate, in which the Dominion marksmen having highest aggregate score, the Dominion marksmen, including Corporal D. J. O'Brien, of London, who scored 54 out of 60 at 300 yards, finished third with 113 out of 120 at 600 yards.

The match was fired with service rifles of .303 and .303 calibre, respectively.

DOROTHY DIX

If You're a Drug on Dance Market, If You've Tried Different Sets of Boys and None of Them Sees Your Charms, Then Concentrate Entirely on a Career

What is a girl good to do who has no attraction for men? I get hundreds and hundreds of letters from young women who write me that they are not so intelligent, that they are not so good looking, that they are not so charming, and so on, as they can see, they are just as good as the other girls of their sex. But the boys flock around them like flies around a honey-pot, while they have never a single date with which to live themselves.

And these, forgotten, neglected maidens ask what they shall do in order to make themselves popular with the boys. Alas, no one can untangle their riddle for them, for no one has ever yet been wise enough to discover what mystery lies at the heart of a woman's appeal to a man who has human instincts even as they have a synthetic charm that will work.

You cannot say to a girl, If you want to be admired by men you must be beautiful, or you must be a good sport, or you must be charming and helpful, or you must be vivacious and entertaining, or even that you must offer yourself to be kissed and petted. For she may be a headliner in any of these things and yet have never a beau. Or she may fall in quality in any of these attractions and yet be besieged by the sheiks.

Now does it avail for a girl to study the technique of the popular girl and attempt to adapt it to her own needs? The expert always fails, because the quiet, demure, little girl who tries to imitate some gay and audacious girl who does outrageous things and gets away with it only makes herself look and vulgar. The plain, sensible girl who tries to tell her eyes, as some pretty little flapper does, merely looks as ridiculous as a flying calf. The girl who tries to saunter like no more alluring than a love-leaf elephant.

So it all comes back to the end to the stark fact that if nature didn't endow a woman at birth with what Elmer Glyn calls "It," she just hasn't got it. That's all there is to it, and there is nothing she can do about it.

She may break her neck trying to please men and they won't even notice her. She is too good to be true. She may run her feet off dodging men and they will always outstep her. She may feed them—entertain them, and they will eat her food and dance with some other girl at her parties. She may make herself everything that men might admire and they won't cast a second glance in her direction. She may fit in with the crowd, but she will never get a chance to be noticed.

Let us now understand that "It" is to a girl to lack attraction for men. It is hard when you are young and filled with the joy of living to be shut out from the pleasures of the other girls of your age because, for some mysterious reason that you are powerless to help, you have no lure for the masculine sex. It is bitter hard to sit at home all evening hearing your parents' company or go out on glacially cold dates with another girl when the other girls have gone out on gay parties with their admirers.

No man standing amidst the wreck of his hopes and ambitions ever knows a moment of more acute humiliation than does the girl who is a wallflower at a ball and who knows that every man who dances with her has been converted into doing it by her beauty and that he will drop her the first moment that she can untangle her from some other man who is trying his best to dodge her.

What, then, can the girl do whom boys never date up of their own volition, whose partners have to be conspired for her at dances and who knows herself unnumbered additional in any party she wishes herself upon?

Before succumbing to the temptation she might give herself more choice by making a change of her environment.

Men are like sheep where women are concerned. They follow their leader. They admire the girl that other boys admire. They fight for dates with the girl that all the other boys want to take out. They want to dance with the girl who other fellows cut in before they have had half a turn around the room.

So it happens that he girl who has been an outcast has other boys given to her even more abundantly while the girl who has had few has her own little date and may even find a few admirers who are not so familiar with her girl attractiveness that she doesn't realize it. They are too close to her to get any perspective on her charms.

Many a girl who is a social failure at home is a success abroad. Many a girl who the boys on Main street consider strange men, when away from home is a winner, as is witnessed by the number of girls who marry away from home.

If, however, a girl finds that after thresholding different water no fish rises to her bait, then she saves herself mortification and wear

Renee and Her Hubby

Here are some more Hollywood-style—Renee Adams and Mr. Renee Gilt, former New York broker, now a Los Angeles merchant.

Each has been married before. Renee Adams to Tom Moore and Mr. Renee Gilt to Edwin Parson Bennett, former film director.

And the world is so full of such a number of things about this that no girl nowadays need feel that life is tedious, and that if she isn't popular with men, she can concentrate on her career.

Any girl who puts as much study and thought and effort and real heart interest in trying to please a boy as she does in trying to keep her little cake near will find herself shining up the ladder of success at a rate that will amaze her. She can give herself more pleasures and indulgences than any steady is likely to be able to give her and she can have all the men friends she wants, for there are no women that men like better than the women who have ceased to pursue them.

Indoubtedly the girl who wants to be admired by men will find comfort to be told that charm is a gift of nature and not to be acquired by art or study, but it is the sad truth.

When a woman finds herself interesting to men the worst thing she can do is to interest herself in something else.

Something Worth Looking Into

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS

"Three more days, amigos. Then at sunrise you will be laid upon the altar of the fire-god to await the moment for the sacrifice."

THIS HAS HAPPENED
Attempts have been made on the life of ELISE MARSHBURY, an American girl residing on a considerable property near the little town of PORTO VERDE, in west central Brazil. Several notorious deeds have occurred, but so far she has escaped harm, due to the attentions of her cousin and protector VILAK, a curious mixture of American and Oriental blood and a student of criminology.

Vilak has been trying to persuade Elise to leave Porto Verde, telling her that she is in danger. He is a man of many guises, and his true nature is a mystery. He is a man of many guises, and his true nature is a mystery. He is a man of many guises, and his true nature is a mystery.

Without the one he would swiftly die, while the other is a force which in occasion kills him as lightning strikes a tree. He is a man of many guises, and his true nature is a mystery. He is a man of many guises, and his true nature is a mystery. He is a man of many guises, and his true nature is a mystery.

At last, after the sun had set, the two men were alone. Vilak was a man of many guises, and his true nature is a mystery. He is a man of many guises, and his true nature is a mystery. He is a man of many guises, and his true nature is a mystery.

At last, after the sun had set, the two men were alone. Vilak was a man of many guises, and his true nature is a mystery. He is a man of many guises, and his true nature is a mystery. He is a man of many guises, and his true nature is a mystery.

Old Sol Takes a Back Seat

CLAIM JAPAN IS GIVING AID TO THE NORTH

SHANGHAI, July 14.—The Nanking moderate Nationalist (southern) government through the official Kuomintang agency, charges the Japanese with openly interfering with the advance of the southern forces in the province of Szechwan. It is declared that the activities of the Japanese are preventing the southern forces from accomplishing their purpose, that they are occupying the entire railway area from Tientsin to Tientsin, and are maintaining earposts at all stations and putting insurmountable obstacles in the path of the Nanking forces seeking to proceed northward.

Plans Formulated.

The northern army is added, are constructing trenches in the Kichow Bay area under the direct supervision of the Japanese military, which is furnishing the plans. Minor southern retreats in Szechwan, it is asserted, are due to pressure from the Japanese. Japanese combine. The tension due to Japanese activity is growing more acute in the Yangtze valley in South China and all reports are unmistakably spreading. Japanese mercenaries are beginning to feel the pinch.

Canton is most active in promoting the boycott, and Japanese trade is seriously affected there. A cargo of Japanese goods valued at $100,000 has been seized by the Cantonese and merchants have been forced to forego any business relations with the Japanese. It is reported that several of them have been sent to jail for violating the boycott regulations.

Canadian Cade's Can Shoot for King's Prize

RISLEY CAMP, England, July 14.—Canadian cades are members of the Hamilton cadets and thus eligible to shoot for the King's prize, which is a gold medal. The eligibility of the Hamilton cadets was definitely supported by the secretary of the National Rifle Association in London. Some doubt had been expressed in Canada.

The first stage yesterday Cadet Hillon, of Hamilton, tied with six others for first place, among the thousand marksmen from all parts of the empire.

Mark Hunsell, believed to be in Edmonton, is being sought by friends for information as to the making of a special appeal to the church to remain true to its purpose.

WEATHER

Precipitation—Fair and warm. High temperature yesterday, 14; low, 10; this morning, 10; tomorrow, 8; sun, 27.2 steady.

YOUNG LOVERS COLD IN DEATH AT STRATHMORE

CALGARY, July 14.—Steve Kalka, a well-to-do farmer living in the Strathmore district, first shot and then twice shot his sweetheart, Hazel Kalka, and then shot himself while in an automobile, near Crossfield, Thursday morning. The bodies were found sitting in the car as though asleep Wednesday morning about 8 o'clock.

Miss Kalka, whose family lived in Strathmore, was working on a farm in the neighborhood in which the double tragedy occurred. Kalka drove up there Tuesday evening and asked the girl to accompany him for a ride, saying they would be away only a few minutes.

Search Starts.

When they failed to return Tuesday night a search was made Tuesday morning with the result that the couple were found sitting in the automobile of the murderer, which was parked in the centre of the road two miles from the farm house, where Miss Kalka was sitting when she was shot through the chest twice and he was shot through the head.

Kalka is supposed to have been the cause of the murder and full evidence was left to show that the killing had been premeditated before leaving home and made her a few words in last night's letter he killed her. She was first shot through the chest and then through the head.

Loved Each Other.

In a letter he left he stated, and he in a footnote corroborated the statement that they loved each other and deposited of being able to be married and so could not live any longer. The bodies of Kalka were found in the car, and the bodies of Kalka were found in the car.

Retain Hopes For Safety Of French Aces

CHICOUTIMI, Que., July 14.—The hopes of the citizens of Chicoutimi are high. Wednesday the whole episode of Nuremberg and Coli, which threw the parishes of this sparsely inhabited region into a ferment that lasted for several weeks, was opened and J. A. Gobeil, secretary of the Chicoutimi County Aero Club, society, is the authority for the statement which has since been repeated here that the two airmen who flew the Atlantic in the "White Bird" may actually have landed somewhere in this vicinity.

Actually Touching Plane

Mr. Gobeil declares two Indians, when he encountered them in the woods a few days ago, related that they had not only seen a white airplane, but they had actually touched it back in the woods. This became known to Mr. Gobeil's return to civilization after a brief absence in the bush.

The story these Indians, named Bacon and Gagnon, told in giving him the news, was that when they were in the white airplane, they replied that they had seen a white airplane, but they had not touched it. This became known to Mr. Gobeil's return to civilization after a brief absence in the bush.

Harvest Help From Britain

MONTREAL, July 14.—Canadian Pacific steamships will arrive this week-end. (The Montreal is expected at Quebec on the 18th, and the St. Louis and Esmeralda of Montreal on the 19th, will discharge over 1,200 immigrants to be added to Canadian population. Practically the entire week-end's immigrant quota will be absorbed by agriculture or domestic service.

A party of 50 students recruited from various universities and agricultural colleges in the British Isles is coming to give in the harvesting of the western Canadian harvest. Time this arrival will proceed direct to Toronto, where they will be placed by the Ontario government on provincial farms for a month's work. At the end of this period they will travel west to be absorbed in harvest work in Saskatchewan through the agency of the British immigration service. This party constitutes only the vanguard of the student army to attack the western Canadian wheat crop. Up to three thousand students are expected.

with the warm weather, Edmonton housewives look to McGavin's for their daily supply of Cakes and Pastry.

Here's a New Bread Treat

We made our first batch of the new Raisin Bran Bread about three weeks ago. It proved so popular that our supply of the special flour, used in its manufacture, ran out in one-half the time we had counted on, consequently we were forced to discontinue this loaf for a few days. We have just received a new shipment of flour that will last even at capacity production, for at least six months.

It is an entirely different loaf with a distinctive flavour. That is why it is so suddenly popular. It is enriched with butter, eggs, buttermilk, and the principal sweetening used is fruit sugar similar to honey, making you want slice after slice three times a day.

Sales are Increasing Tremendously on this New Loaf.

HAVE YOU TRIED IT YET?

Lightheart declared that when the building was completed in 1911 it was furnished with fire protection equipment to a greater extent than was required by civic regulations and that it was solidly constructed.

"I have examined the building and can find only one place the fire burned through the heavy floor, and in no place has the solid wall been burned through," he asserted.

There was a heated exchange be-scribe Monday how his little brother Grant had hung by a window chain and could not escape," commented the fire marshal.

Painter Testifies

David Henderson, painter, who faces a charge of manslaughter as a result of the catastrophe, was among the other witnesses who testified, and declared that he had not been employed at the time the boiler exploded.
